What makes the Platinum motorhome so special? To a large degree, it is the attention to detail. Here we point out just some of the things — little and big — that put the Coach House Platinum in a class by itself. We invite you to compare, and we believe you will agree: Not only is the Platinum a better-looking vehicle, it is better built and better designed.

The central monitor panel provides a convenient way to check tank levels and battery charge, start the generator, control the water pump, operate the water heater, and discharge cooking odors.

Two thermostatically controlled Fantastic roof vents exhaust stale air and circulate fresh air into the coach.

Full galley is located at the front of the coach, complete with sink, stove, convection/microwave oven, three-way refrigerator, and plenty of cabinets.

Front mounted 19-inch color TV is standard. Optional video-cassette player and/or DVD player also available.

Shown: Platinum 232, with optional custom paint in grey.

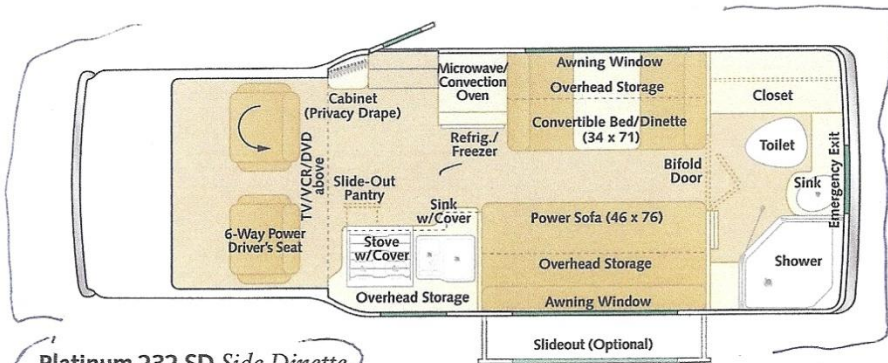

Powerful Ford V-10 power plant (gasoline standard, Diesel optional)

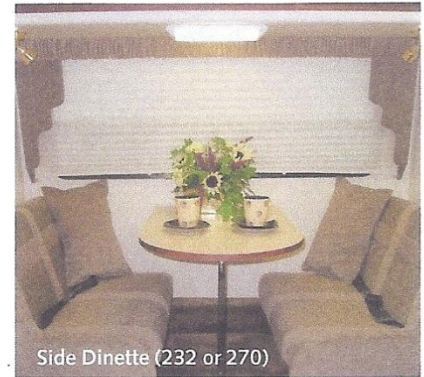

Ford E-450 chassis includes 55-gallon fuel tank, hydroboost brake system, built-in stabilizer bar, and an air-ride suspension system for all conditions.

One-piece fiberglass shell is reinforced with high-tech composites and protected with a beautiful gel-coat finish. Style lines add strength as well as beauty.

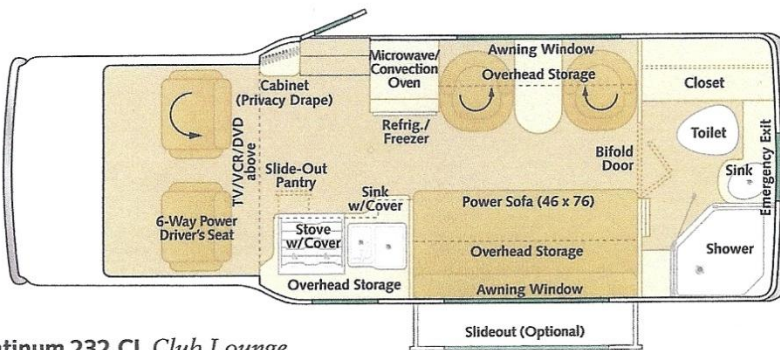

Exterior storage bins hold bulky items, such as golf clubs (two sets), camping equipment, tool boxes, etc. (Shown in cutaway view)
